Profile of a Graduate

To ensure students have the habits of mind to create a thriving future for themselves and their community, every PWCS student will develop the knowledge and skills throughout their pre-K-12 experience to graduate with the following qualities: Critical Thinker, Digital Citizen, Innovator and Visionary, Resilient and Global Collaborator.

Think About It

What are some things that can help you succeed in school?

Carefully think about each of the suggestions below, and how you can implement them in your daily routine.

Habits to Launch your Future

- Be engaged in class: This shows teachers and classmates that you're interested in learning. It's more than just showing up; it's about actively contributing, asking questions, and being open to new ideas.
- Strengthen your skills in math, reading, and writing: These are the basis for all other learning and are essential for your educational journey.
- Get your study materials in order: Staying organized can speed up your homework completion, reduce the risk of misplacing it, and guarantee that it's finished promptly, freeing up more time for activities you enjoy.
- Ask for help: It is okay to ask for assistance when you need support. You are not expected to have all the answers.
- Develop proactive testing habits: Study regularly, take mock tests, and manage time effectively during testing.
- Know yourself: Recognize your strengths and areas of growth. It's about being honest with yourself and continuously working on your social and emotional skills.
- Have a support system: Know who will cheer you on and who can help you process the successes and challenges.
- Challenge yourself: Challenges are opportunities to build your self-confidence and resilience. Every time you push your limits and succeed, you reaffirm your ability to overcome future obstacles. Trying is the first step toward achieving your goals.
